

It Just Grew and Grew and...

Probably the largest zucchini on record in Albany was grown by Ann Scott, above, in her yard on Adams Street. She said the overgrown Italian squash came in at 12 pounds and was 26 inches long, 20 inches around at the largest part. In one month, the monster took over in her yard, she said, and developed a thick, half-inch skin that made it almost impossible to cut through with an ordinary knife. When Ann, the 25 year old daughter of Fearn Scott, left for her vacation, the zucchini was just a babe, measuring only 5 inches, but when she returned in two weeks, it was 21 inches long, so she let it grow to see what would happen. Ann is a graduate of Albany high school and the envy of the neighborhood for her prowess as a gardener.

Local resident suffers heart attack at home

ALBANY — When Albany fire department ambulance attendants pulled up to the home of Donald Piel, 1439 Marin, it appeared the 67 year old man had died of a heart attack, according to the report.

With medical technicians Mike Williams and Mark McGinn attending, the pair revived Piel and took him to the Intensive Care Unit of Herrick Memorial Hospital in Berkeley.

Piel collapsed shortly before 3 p.m., Sunday while sitting in his front room chair. His family called for help and the ambulance responded, according to officials.

Both Williams and McGinn worked on him prior to taking him to the Berkeley hospital and he was administered cardiopulmonary resuscitation as the ambulance sped to Herrick. He remains in critical condition, according to hospital sources.

High school sports program in jeopardy

Police auction Sat.

Albany — Saturday morning, October 14, at 10 a.m., the Albany Police department will hold an auction.

There are over 30 bicycles in various sizes, shapes and conditions to be auctioned as well as a bunch of miscellaneous items, according to Chief James Simmons.

The auction will take place in the back of the police station at 1000 San Pablo Avenue, he said, and will continue until all items have been sold.

Lack of money is cause of concern

ALBANY — There is a dire need for $10,000 for the sports program at Albany High School, and the need is now!

According to a story in the Albany High School "Informant," there is a chance that the Cougars will not be in a position to finish their football schedule unless money is forthcoming in short order. The budget, which was $40,000 last year for all sports, has been cut to $20,000 for the current year. Out of this sum, $17,500 will go to the coaches of the various sports, leaving a slim $2,500 to cover the expenses of all sports, both boys' and girls', it was said. The $2,500 will barely cover safety equipment needed for sports, according to the story.

In peril of being discontinued the girls' and boys' basketball, girls' and boys' track, wrestling, baseball and girls' softball, unless the community comes up with hard cash to enable the continuance of the sports, it was said.

At the present time football is short $700 and unless the money is received very soon, the team may not be able to finish the season, it was said.

All the cut backs are the result of Proposition 13, it was said, resulting in a loss of revenue from normal sources. The drive, with parents and coaches doing their part, is underway to raise the necessary money. At the present time, parents and coaches are transporting team members to the games as there is no money to hire transportation.

As a result of the cutbacks, school paid physicals, football insurance and towels have been eliminated from the program. There just isn't any money according to the story. Game management will be done free by parents of students, it was said.

Principal James Walker has asked the Albany High Boosters to aid in the raising of the money necessary to continue the sports program. The group has made an appeal to the public, but the goal is far short of fulfillment.

The club has slated a Reno night and is conducting a bicycle raffle to raise (Cont. on Page 2, Col. 6)

When Officers Oren Rae and Arthur Clemons of the Albany Police department forced their way into the restroom, they found Ms. Johnson, the report said.

Upon further search, both the narcotics and the paraphernalia were found and the woman was lodged in the Albany jail.

Marshall asks fire aid during year as Fire Prevention Week opens

IT WAS A BALL — Patti Dempster, Albany City Clerk, and Al Drozda, were talking at the recent El Cerrito Community Ball when the above picture was taken. Many local residents and civic leaders attended the ball held at the Cerrito Club on September 30.

Fire Chief's Job subject at meet

At the meeting of the Albany Civil Service Commission, a discussion of protection for the fire chief centered on his position as to the whim of the majority of the City Council.

Commissioner Tom McQuaid suggested the Commission recommend to the City Council the job of Fire Chief Mike Koepke be made more secure by requiring a vote of four members of the City Council to make a change in the department and that the Chief be guaranteed a tenure of at least one year. The Board agreed to submit his suggestion to the City Council for consideration.

It also set the tests for fulfilling the Police Officer-Clerk position. The 278 applicants on the list are to take the typing test on October 14 at Albany high school, beginning at 8 a.m., it was announced, with the written test to follow November 4 at 1 p.m., at Marin school. The oral examination is to be held November 15, 16 and possibly November 17. Successful applicants from the written and typing tests will be notified, it was said. There is one opening in the Police Department, but the

Gonsalves asks for due caution

ALBANY — According to Capt. Ray Gonsalves, Albany's fire marshal, this is the week to remember the old adage, "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure." It is Fire Prevention Week as proclaimed by Mayor Lewis M. Howell.

The week, October 8 to 14, has been set aside to bring home to residents, both young and old, the dangers of fires occurring in homes and the possible ways to prevent them from happening.

According to Marshal Gonsalves, every year many persons lose their lives due to fires, most often occurring during the sleeping hours from midnight to 6 a.m. Smoke, according to the Marshall, is the biggest killer as it does its deadly work before the flames reach one. In home fires, the majority of victims die because they are asleep when the fire starts and do not awaken in time to escape the smoke and flames.

There are, according to the Marshall, some 2,000 residential and apartment fires each day, amounting to some 700,000 per year. Over 6,000 persons die each year as a result of the fires, and it is the elderly and the children who are usually the victims, he said.

According to Marshall Gonsalves, many of the deaths could have been prevented by installation of smoke detectors and the local department is happy to give information and assistance in the purchase of smoke detector devices, he said. A telephone call to the Albany Fire Department, 644-8546, will bring immediate results, he said.

He also asked that local residents check their homes and eliminate potential fire hazards. He said to have heating equipment cleaned and checked prior to the Winter cold spell, and to keep stoves free of grease and fire away from towels and clutter, he said, and keep a neat home, thus defeating the possibility of fires.

NEW FINANCE OFFICER — Roy Paul Endersby, above, has been named the new finance officer for the City of Albany. He replaces Betty Rhoades who retired last September. He comes to Albany from the City of Campbell. He assumes his new position on October 23, according to William E. Haden, administrative officer of Albany.

New finance head named for Albany

ALBANY — The supervising management accountant from Campbell, Roy Paul Endersby, 53 years old, has been appointed Albany's new finance director, according to an announcement by William E. Haden, administrative officer.

A graduate of the University of Washington, Class of June, 1952, he has served with the Federal government in American Samoa and prior to his position in Campbell, was systems accountant for Santa Cruz county.

Endersby, replaces Betty Rhoades who retired August 15th, brings a long and successful career in municipal finance and accounting "that will prove most valuable, especially in view of the impact of Proposition 13 on our City," Haden said.

Endersby was selected from a field of ten applicants by the City Council in executive session Monday, October 2, and he agreed to terms last Thursday, according to Haden. His salary is $23,000 per year.

A member of the Systems Management association and Municipal Finance officer's association, Haden said Endersby experience was one of the prime reasons for his selection. He is to start here October 23.

Married, he and his wife, Margaret, are the parents of three boys, William, Timothy and Roy. He said he is looking forward to the challenge in Albany and plans to move here as soon as possible.

Baton lessons start soon at Marin school

ALBANY — The Albany Parks and Recreation department now has openings for children 3 to 5 years of age in the "Whirlie Baton Corps," instructor.

The openings are for new beginners and for intermediates, she said, and there are some openings for the six through teenage brackets in the classes.

The classes include the learn to twirl, march and basic dance steps. Classes are held in Marin school multi-purpose room, 1001 Santa Fe Avenue on Thursday afternoon, starting tomorrow, Ms. Ross announced. Classes will run through December 14 and the fee is $14 for the eight week session. Times for the classes are as follows: new beginners, 3:15 to 4 p.m.; intermediates, from 4 to 4:45 p.m.

Ms. Ross, the instructor of the classes, has sponsored the boy Grand National Champion and a California Strutting Champion, it was announced.

Children joining the marching unit corps will participate in various parades throughout the year, it was said.

Additional information and registration is at Albany Park and Recreation department, 1000 San Pablo Ave.

Joint meeting

ALBANY — A joint meeting of the Albany City Council and the Albany School Board is set for Monday at Marin School.

According to information, the discussion will center on mutual problems to do with the crossing guards, middle school and the effects of Proposition 13 on the finances of both the City and the School Board. Maintenance of Memorial Park also is on the agenda.

The meeting will start at 8 p.m. in the All-Purpose Room, it was said.

Officer Richard Haugner came to the rescue of Susan Delling of Oakland during the week. Seems, the report said, she locked not only her keys in her car but also her baby! The good officer retrieved both, none the worse for wear or tear.

An attempted purse snatch was reported to the police by a local resident who was walking near the county line on the BART path. According to the report, two young black males attempted to grab her purse but were not successful. The two are described as one being 16 to 18 years old, 5' 4"-5' 6" tall with braided hair and dressed in blue jeans. The second suspect is said to be about the same age, thin and with a two-inch natural, wearing an open shirt with a blue medallion, blue jeans rolled at the cuff.

Tuesday. He was incarcerated, the report said, and released when he sobered up.

All the commotion and confusion at Jay Vee Liquors last Wednesday was caused when the police radio set off the burglar alarm at the store at 759 San Pablo.

That unkempt person reported to the police being in the 1100 block of Stannage was questioned and asked to leave the area when he checked out as not being wanted. He was trying to bum food and lodging, according to the report. The investigating officers directed him to the Youth Hostel.

Only minor damage and no citations resulted in that accident reported to the police between Alvide Stole, 3536 Bissell, Richmond and Walter Pierce, 2229 Sitka, San Ramon. The accident occurred in front of Albany Ford on San Pablo.

There were no citations issued on the accident Wednesday between the cars of Robert Rothgery, 625 Adams and Ronald Boner, 3413 Eric Court, Richmond, the police report said. Only minor damage was sustained in the collision at Clay and San Pablo.

On Wednesday, the burglar alarm at Pacific Racing Association — Golden Gate Fields — was accidentally tripped and resulted in police rushing to the scene at 1100 Eastshore.

MOTHERS AND CHILDREN — are being taught to swim in the special parents and tots class for children from four months to four years old accompanied by a responsible adult. In addition to the classes for smaller children, a complete range of swimming instruction is available.

When Vicky Small, 7, failed to come home after her dancing lesson, her mother reported to the Albany Police department the fact. She was found later at Evelyn and Solano and taken to her mother, Roxanne, at the family home, 812 Masonic, the police report said.

According to the report of Officer Jim Harris, Donald Donaldson, 627 Spokane, called in to report he had a real, live tropical parrot in his backyard, and upon investigation, sure enough, there he, she or it was. Found out the parrot belonged to Michael Gilts 1337 La Loma in Berkeley, who said he has several of the birds and lets them run around uncaged in his backyard. "However, once in a while, one will fly south," Gilts said, hence the parrot to the north of Gilts' home in the backyard of Donaldson.

Jay Blakeley, 918 Fillmore, had his motor-cross bicycle stolen in front of the Albany Bowl. It had been locked at the time of the theft, the report said. He valued the bike at $150.

Albany police were kept busy during the week-end with burglar alarms going off all over town and resulting in a lot of police cars converging at the various locations.

An employee error caused the alarm to sound at Plaza Car Wash, 400 San Pablo, while an unknown source set off the alarm at Serb's restaurant, 1045 San Pablo avenue. Down at Golden Gate Fields, the wind blew a door open resulting in the silent alarm going off. The police secured the door and informed the watchman, the report stated.

Caral, Inc. 578 Cleveland had their alarm go off as the result of an employee error, it was said, while the alarm at Richards Jewellers, 1272 Solano, went off for no apparent reason, the report stated.

A couple of minor accidents were covered by Albany police, but neither of them resulted in either injuries or citations, the reports said.

complex proved to be Gale G. Tatge, 1153 13th street, Richmond, and he was sound asleep on the lawn, according to the report. SACRAMENTO — New boating facilities at Picacho State Recreation Area have been completed and are now available to the public, according to Marty Mercado, Director of the Department of Navigation and Ocean Development (DNOD). The State recreation area is located in Imperial County on the Colorado River about 25 miles north of Yuma.

The $250,000 construction project was funded by DNOD, the State's boating agency. "The Department is responsible for providing public access to the State's waterways by funding boating facilities throughout California," said Mercado.

New facilities at the boating site include a concrete two-lane launching ramp, restrooms, landscaping and campsites at two boat-in areas. Fifteen campsites are available at both Paddle Wheeler and Hoge Rock.

UCD undertakes $15 million job

DAVIS — The University of California is undertaking a five-year, $15-million research, training and development program for the Egyptian government. The program is financed by the U.S. Agency for International Development (AID).

Under the terms of the agreement, "the primary purpose... is to enhance and strengthen the capability of Egyptian institutions to plan and implement agricultural development."

stationed at UC's Kearney Horticultural Field Station near Parlier (Fresno County) and has been active as a consultant in several foreign countries.

Last month, the Regents of the University of California appointed Hesse chief of party and director in Egypt of the program, and delegated authority to UC President David S. Saxon to sign a management contract with the Egyptian government. Planning and negotiations for the AID program had been under way since 1976.

Effective date of the agreement was expected to be about October 1. The program will be led jointly by Fredric W. Hill, coordinator of international programs at UC Davis, and Mahmoud M. Dawood, minister of agriculture in Egypt. Hesse and the Egyptian co-director, M. Kamel Hindy of the ministry of agriculture, will manage the day-to-day operations in chancellor, authority to execute future contract changes as needed within the framework of the master agreement.

Some of the research is expected to be done at Davis and at other UC campuses, as well as in Egypt itself.

Albany Times Mailbag -- Letters from our readers

Editor: Dear Sir:
For a long time I asked my Mom for a ten speed bicycle. I'm 11 years old. I like to ride bikes, and most of my friends have 10 speeds to ride and I really wanted one. My Mom said we couldn't afford it, they cost too much. My dad said he would try to buy one for me and last July he did. After that Mom bought a heavy chain and lock your said be sure and lock your bike when you go anywhere. Last week after school two of my friends and I went to Discount Unlimited on San Pablo Avenue. There wasn't any bike rack and Mom had said don't chain your bike where people could fall over it and get hurt. So my friends and I put our bikes close to the store and we were only going in for a minute and when we came out my bicycle was gone. Somebody stole it. That's why I'm writing this letter.

Always before I locked my bike. Only one time I didn't and now it's gone. My Mother said it only takes one time and I guess she's right. Since my bike was stolen we talked to a lot of people and we found out that bikes are stolen from driveways, besides houses, back yards and even front porches. Especially 10 speeds. People steal them because they can sell them for a lot of money. Even though my bike was stamped on the frame and had a license, the police said that would help identify it, but I have almost no chance of getting it back. Maybe if every kid in Albany would never, never leave their bike unlocked or anywhere where it would be easy to steal they would have a better chance of keeping the bicycle. My Mom said it won't stop people from stealing bikes, maybe it would make it harder for them. I sure hope so.

Thank you,
Donna Brown

Editor:
Dear Sir:
Voters would serve themselves best by voting out all

Bay Area Congressional incumbents. Each of these office occupiers has fueled the fires of living costs by his abandon to deficit spending and each has the amoral record of supporting no defense for American civilians, even in the face of massive build-ups of foreign forces hostile to our constitutional freedoms.

The American Security Council has rated the 95th Congress regarding ten key votes. Such incumbents as George Miller, Dellums, Stark, Ryan and the Burton brothers each score zero while each of ten other California Congressmen (examples: Clausen, Goldwater, Dornan) score 100%. Current Bay Area incumbents repeatedly vote with the wrong side — last December, for vast tax increases upon all employment; May 9th, against a 2% cut in federal spending; May 10th, for a budget deficit of $5 billion — skyrocketing living costs!; April 18th, to use 6 million for such projects as study of homosexual seagulls!; May 15th, against a cut in foreign aid; June 1st, against tax credit to parents for educational tuition beyond taxes; May 9th, (in the minority) against House control of funds required if the loss of our interoceanic Canal is to be implemented.

If enough voters act, they can defeat these Bay Area incumbents, put big government on a diet and prevent the theft of our interoceanic Canal and its Zone.

Editor:

Dear Sir:
Albany voters will have an opportunity to vote in November for an initiative placed on the ballot by 1700 Albany residents who are concerned about the present Zoning Ordinance.

The initiative aims to preserve the single family character of the center of town, provides 1 1/2 to 2 offstreet parking spaces for every new unit built in Albany, and lowers the allowable density on Albany Hill by 50 percent.

Albany real estate developers, typified by Jerome Blank at last Monday's (Oct. 2) City Council meeting, are attempting to discredit the initiative with a campaign of half-truths and confusing statements.

Citing his thirty years of experience with the Zoning Ordinance, Mr. Blank created scenarios which he said would arise if the initiative passed. Of course, these contrived situations showed Senior Citizens being victimized, and property owners powerless to stop oversized developments in their neighborhoods. Fortunately, this is not the case, as Mr. Blank probably knew before he started, and after being corrected in front of the council, spoke no more that evening.

The campaign in favor of the Ordinance is financed by contributions from private citizens, whereas the campaign against the Ordinance will be well financed by profit-oriented developers. Albany voters, beware of their doubletalk, vote yes for the community sponsored initiative to preserve the character of our town.

MICHAEL FAHMIE

Dear Editor:

I am angered and surprised by your personal attack on me in the October 4th Albany Times. Not only were your statements untrue, but the attack was unwarranted. I am justifiably proud of my record of community service, and receive continued support from my fellow citizens. It is difficult enough to volunteer several hours each week to serve my City, without being ridiculed for doing it.

I hereby demand an apology and a retraction of your remarks.

I realize that you are new to the Albany scene, and I suppose that you are entitled to a few mistakes. However, you must realize that a personal attack on any human being has no place in responsible journalism. As a human being I was hurt by your unprofessional blunder.

Since you apparently attended the last two Council meetings you know that I offered valuable testimony on at least three matters before the City Council. You know that my comments were brief and to the point, that several citizens told the Council they appreciated my remarks, and that the Council took several constructive actions as a direct result of my testimony.

You stated that I was unjustified in speaking over one half hour on the Hattam problems, even though he lives on Sonoma, a couple of blocks away from the Tevin Avenue location, subject of the public hearing. In fact, I spoke for 14 minutes on a major development proposal just one block from my home.

You continued, "Griffin said the developer, John Hattam, was going to install asphalt sidewalks. This, according to the building department, cannot be done as it is illegal and not under city code." In fact, I discussed several serious problems concerning the development proposal, including the lack of an environmental study of any kind, new costs to the City of maintaining new roads and sidewalks, new traffic problems, impact on the immediate neighbors, and the recreational value of the Codornices Creek bank. The Council incorporated two of my concerns as additional conditions when they issued the use permit.

I commented in passing that there were numerous problems with Hattam's proposal to build an asphalt walkway on the east side of Tevin Avenue to a bridge across Codornices Creek. I said nothing about "asphalt sidewalks." Also, it was the developer, John Hattam, who spoke for "over one half hour" on the proposal, not me.

You also stated, "Sometimes it is a sad commentary on the thoughtlessness of others who monopolize a meeting for personal grandizement and just to hear himself (sic) talk and freeze out others who have been waiting patiently for hours for a chance to speak their piece and have been put on the agenda." If that isn't an unwarranted personal attack I invite you to tell me what is. After you read this letter, go down to City Hall and listen to the official tape recordings of the last two meetings. As you do you will be reminded that my testimony was given in order, on the agenda, and was brief, well-researched presentation directly on the point of discussion.

Next time, think twice and be certain of your facts before you attempt to impeach the honesty, integrity and reputation of a private citizen; and don't misuse your position as editor to unjustifiably ridicule an individual for simply performing their civic duty by becoming involved in their community.

If you wish to meet with me to discuss this or any other matter, please feel free to call me. Perhaps we'll feel differently about one another once we've had the opportunity to meet. My telephone numbers are: 526-3677 (home), 231-9453 (work).

Respectfully

PATRICK M. GRIFFIN

Editor:

Dear Sir:
In order to gain ground in sports, it takes teamwork. In business, the rules are much the same. We've got to pull together. The Albany Chamber of Commerce is providing the team process to coordinate the work essential in keeping our community forging ahead economically.

As you know, the Albany Chamber of Commerce has long been a leader in expanding our economic base and providing new industrial investments and jobs. The Chamber has also been working for a better city and the preservation of the quality of life which we have all come to know and enjoy. You are also a business person, and I am sure you will agree that this effort needs involvement and financial assistance.

Since the enactment of Jarvis Gann, the County of Alameda, and the City of Albany, have, at least temporarily, withdrawn financial support of the Chamber of Commerce, regardless of the many activities for the benefit of both the business and residential community in which we have committed ourselves to participate. It is, our desire to continue to provide these services and to effectively represent the business viewpoint on issues that affect the citizens of Albany.

As a member of the business community, I am asking for your help and support to assure that Albany will continue to be a fine place to live and conduct our business. Won't you join with me as a member of the Chamber of Commerce and help promote our progress and Albany.

Sincerely,
EDWARD H. ELLIOTT
President

Timpanist's split date

NEW YORK (AP) — It was a case of double time — or perhaps timpani for two. Roland Kohloff was billed principal timpanist Tuesday night in the New York Philharmonic's concert, conducted by Zubin Mehta at Avery Fisher Hall.

He also was billed principal timpanist at Carnegie Hall. There the Philadelphia Orchestra, conducted by Eugene Ormandy, opened its New York season. The orchestra's usual kettledrum player was out sick, so Kohloff got the call.

Kohloff, a native New Yorker, practiced all day with both groups. In the morning, the Philharmonic. In the afternoon, the Philadelphia.

He made plans to taxi the 12 blocks to Carnegie just after his group's opening piece at 7:30 p.m.

Was he worried? No, said Kohloff. He had enough time between the two concerts and, anyway, the orchestra was supplying the drums.

25th anniversary

After 25 years in business, a celebration is being held at Cortese Pharmacy, corner of San Pablo and Solano.

With Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cortese, who owned the business until recently, now living in Cave Junction, Oregon, the operation of the business has fallen to the couple's son and daughter.

Vince Cortese, a graduate pharmacist, and his sister, Teresa Davidson, are celebrating the 25th anniversary with a twenty-five percent discount on items purchased during the fete.

Albany Bowl

Jeff Key's 632 series paces Merry Jax win

By PHIL ALSTON

ALBANY — Jeff Key's 632 series paced Merry Jax to an impressive 21 to 4 win over Grady's Raiders and into a fairly comfortable lead over the rest of the pack in the 910 Major League at Albany Bowl.

In posting the Majors' best set of the evening, Key flashed one game of 223 and took over on downs and Lyons hit Jeff Channess with a short pass over the middle that went for 66 yards.

But that was the Cougars' last gasp, and Alameda ran down the clock.

Despite three interceptions and the fumble, Lyons did an admirable job, according to Frey.

"He was a bit shaky, but I expected that," said the coach. "It was a hard situation for him."

"He didn't run the right way in a few situations, but he handled the option well and read it well," Frey added.

Albany's defense read Alameda's offense well for the most part, giving up 295 yards to the powerful Hornets.

"They didn't surprise us, but they took it to us," said Alameda coach Greg Fox. "They played defense."

Aside from an 87-yard run by Jerry Nildhamrong on a counter play, the Cougars allowed only one other gain of over 14 yards and held Floyd to relatively poor statistics.

The counter caught Albany off-guard on a few occasions, the first time — Nildhamrong's jaunt — accounting for the opening score of the contest.

"We've been working all week on that," said Frey.

MAYBE A BMW IS WORTH MORE USED BECAUSE IT'S WORTH MORE NEW.

Obviously, the value of a used car depends on the intrinsic value of the car itself.

While most small sedans fall into the category of boring, the BMW 320i was designed by racing engineers and perfected at places like Le Mans, Monte Carlo and the Nürburgring where such performance characteristics as agility and durability are considered necessary requirements.

Consequently, it should come as no surprise that the average BMW retains a considerably above-average percentage of its original price. Even for a five-year-old BMW, 75%-80% is not at all unusual.

If you'd care to judge the BMW 320i for yourself, phone us and we'll arrange a test drive for you at your convenience.

Real new generation college "kids" older

BERKELEY — The real "new generation" of college students isn't arriving on campus at age 18 but rather at around age 38, according to a national study by University of California researchers.

And because they are usually unable to go away to school, these older students in increasing numbers will be turning to their own communities for career guidance and educational services.

Mid-career change is in fact a growing phenomenon of American life, according to findings from a two-year study just completed by the UC researchers.

The research team interviewed more than 1,000 older students and analyzed seven communities that have successfully helped them return to school.

The findings will now be used to design adult education models that other communities can follow.

● Most of the students (some 75 percent) were returning to school with fixed goals of either changing their careers or getting a major promotion in their present jobs.

● About one fourth of the students said they were seeking personal fulfillment not necessarily associated with career change.

● A majority of the students were women attracted to new careers in business administration, public administration and health services.

Ages of the group varied between the late 20s and early 70s, with the average age at 38.

Although between 12 and 30 million adults are estimated to be in or ready to re-enter the school system, the UC project has been the first major effort to draw a profile of the group and look at how communities can meet their goals.

The study was conducted by J. Gilbert Paltridge, research educator at UC-Berkeley; Mary C. Regan, professor of applied behavioral sciences at UC Davis; and Dawn G. Terkla, post-graduate researcher at Berkeley.

According to the study, most of the students could not leave their home community for an education. Seventy-four percent were married and were rearing and supporting a family.

Half of the women and most of the men were employed fulltime while attending classes.

The researchers found the mid-career population surprisingly optimistic, with 81 percent seeing a career change as an "exciting opportunity."

Half of the adult students described the quality of their present lives as better than it had been in the past five years, and 80 percent felt that the next five years would be even better than the present.

Only 12 percent felt sure that their age was working against their making a change.

The researchers looked at older students and support services in areas scattered from rural Washington and California to Vermont and to major metropolitan centers in New York, Rhode Island and Minnesota.

Paltridge explained that a key reason why these communities were successful with adult education was because they had career counseling and guidance services.

"Just because a town is isolated from a community

Applications now accepted

BERKELEY — Applications are being accepted from high school and college age people who wish to visit Berkeley's Sister City, Sakai, Japan, for three weeks next summer.

Those interested should contact Bill Porter at 524-5955 evenings, or 849-3711 days.

Porter will lead the exchange delegation which will include between 15 and 20 students. Those selected will participate in a series of seminars prior to their departure. An informational session is planned for potential applicants, who should phone Porter for time and date.

ALBANY CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SOCIETY

Sunday at 11 a.m., the Bible Lesson Sermon at the Albany Christian Science Society will be "Doctrine of Atonement." The meeting will be held in the church at 1358 Marin Ave.

The Golden Text is from Matthew, it was said, and the Reading Room is open from 9 to 10 a.m.

college does not mean that it can't offer important services," Paltridge said.

He said he had seen rural areas overcome their handicap by starting toll-free telephone counseling services and developing guidance information centers in area libraries.

One rural community, located 100 miles from a community college, provided transportation for instructors so they could teach evening classes.

The researchers agreed that urban areas with numerous services to offer faced a different set of problems.

Paltridge explained their most glaring need was to coordinate their programs so classes would not be duplicated and so that credits could be easily transferred.

During the next six months, the researchers will review their findings in "feedback" seminars in each of their study areas.

Their next step will be to draw up a list of recommendations on how other communities can best meet the needs of their new students.

ACT gets $50,000 from foundation

SAN FRANCISCO — American Conservatory Theater general director William Ball and Martin Paley, executive director of the San Francisco Foundation, jointly announced at a press conference a grant of $50,000 to A.C.T. from the Foundation to partially underwrite the resident theater company's productions of "The Winter's Tale" and "Ah, Wilderness!"

"The Winter's Tale," which officially opens the 1978-79 season Oct. 14 under William Ball's direction, will utilize half the grant money in its interpretation of Shakespeare's romance as a mystical, metaphysical fantasy. Public performances in rotating repertory will continue throughout the season and the play is also included in A.C.T.'s popular student matinee program.

"Ah, Wilderness!" which joins the repertory Oct. 31 after making its initial debut during A.C.T.'s summer tour to Hawaii and Japan, is Eugene O'Neill's only comedy and the Pulitzer Prize-winning American playwright's most frequently-produced play. The remainder of the San Francisco Foundation funding contributed to its pre-production and support of the repertory performances scheduled during this season.

The San Francisco Foundation, a highly diversified regional collection of trusts, helped begin A.C.T.'s student matinee program a decade ago, and has provided funds to subsidize reduced-rate tickets for schools. Paley explained their funding position in relation to A.C.T.: "The Foundation feels an interest and responsibility to support the arts in the Bay Area and we see A.C.T. as the principle vehicle for professional theater here."

In thanking Paley and the San Francisco Foundation for their continuing support of the company and especially for generous funding of "The Winter's Tale" and "Ah, Wilderness!," Ball said, "Programs and projects made possible by the San Francisco Foundation are among the most creative and gratifying we have ever undertaken."

"The Winter's Tale" begins reduced-rate preview performances tomorrow evening for its Oct. 14 opening. "Ah, Wilderness!" is scheduled for public previews beginning Oct. 25 for an Oct. 31 opening at the Geary Theater.

Register now for high school proficiency test

SACRAMENTO — Persons wishing to take the next California High School Proficiency Examination must register by mail not later than October 18, according to the State Department of Education. The test itself will be held on Nov. 11.

To pass the exam, which an examinee has four hours to complete, a person must have a grasp of the basic skills at least equal to that of the average high school senior, the department said.

The State Board of Education awards those who pass the exam the Certificate of Proficiency, equivalent by law to a high school diploma. Persons who are younger than 18 when they pass the exam, however, must have their parent's permission in order to leave school before regular graduation.

Open to all persons 16 or older, including adults, the exam costs $10 and is given only three times per year.

Information bulletins, which include samples of the exam's practical skill-type questions along with an application form and mailing envelope, are available at all high schools and most public library branches or from High School Exam, Box 100, Berkeley, CA 94701.

Do magnetic fields matter

What is a "disoriented" cockroach? Does the nation's most prevalent pest really care if its electromagnetic field is "altered"? Can a "modulation" of this field, undetectable to humans, cause en masse evacuation of termites?

Such claims made on the labels of electromagnetic devices will be tested at the University of California at Riverside, beginning this month, under a $20,000 grant from the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA).

Project leader and UCR entomologist Mike Rust will help EPA evaluate the electromagnetic fields, profits from the sale of which produced at least one millionaire. One company reported 12,000 devices sold here and abroad at $350 to $1,000 each.

UCR's grant is one of five commissioned nationwide. Scientists at UC Davis, under another phase of the study, will conduct tests of the device's impact on rats and mice.

EPA has requested sample products from five manufacturers marketing electromagnetic devices under a variety of brand names. The products emit an ultrahigh frequency, far too high to be humanly audible, which "repels," "stresses" and "disorients" vermin, according to various ads. Pests that do not scatter allegedly enter a fatal, trance-like state in which they refuse to eat, drink or mate. Rats, gophers, mice, ants, roaches and termites are among those susceptible; pets, domestic animals and game, luckily, are "not affected."

Recent tests in EPA laboratories showed that two models of the Amigo device, manufactured by millionaire Robert Brown's Mira Mfg. Co. in Pine Valley, had no effect on rats or mice. The agency banned sale of the devices in March, under the 1972 Federal Pesticide Act that allows EPA to regulate false or misleading claims in labels.

Testimonials and even some scientific opinions contradict EPA findings. Among Mira's customers was the U.S. Marine Base at Camp Pendleton, where two Amigos reportedly cleared a 10-acre parade field of gophers. A chicken farmer north of San Diego said the device cleared 10,000 mice, which were bothering his chickens, within four or five days.

UCR's Rust says, "The testimonial consists of this: someone had bugs or rodents, and now they are gone. There are no sampling procedures, no pre- and post-evaluations. The effects reported may not be attributable to the machine itself. For example, roaches will evacuate under adverse changes in temperature or humidity. If an apartment is vacated, eliminating the source of food and water, roaches will also vacate. These factors will be carefully controlled in our tests," he says.

In the next 10 months, UCR scientists will study cockroaches "in the field" — moderate-income apartments in the Los Angeles area — and drywood termites in the laboratory.

"We will count cockroaches and termites before and after the installation of repellents," says Rust. "Watching the effects of invisible, inaudible electromagnetic waves is very different than applying a chemical on or near insects. Everything in this situation must be defined. For instance, drywood termites will have sealed themselves into the wood blocks. Would this change the supposed effectiveness of the electromagnetic?"

Electromagnetic frequencies up to 20,000 cycles per second are humanly audible as "sound." The repeller devices emit frequencies exceeding one million cycles per second, according to manufacturer Brown.

Insects are counted by capturing them in food traps or flushing them out of shelter with a chemical irritant," Rust explained. "Whether insects refuse to eat, go into dormancy, refuse to mate, evacuate or die, it would be reflected in reduced counts."

The University of California entomologist describes the various repellents as disc or boxlike; inside each is a rod surrounded by a coil. The battery-operated Nature Shield, manufactured by Solara of Costa Mesa, Calif., "permanently controls 30 acres" and outwardly resembles a 21-inch Gouda cheese.

ALBANY HIGH FLAG GIRLS — Monday night, the Albany High school Flag Girls will perform at the Band Booster meeting in the Albany Little Theater, according to information. The group, who work with the Albany High marching band, are, from left to right: Dianna Thomsen, Pam Denny, Kaana Aoki (head Flag Girl), Karen Jennings and Marilee

Chamberlain. The meeting Monday night is the kickoff for a concentrated drive to raise money for the sports program for both boys and girls at the local high school. The budget for sports has been cut in half for the ensuing year, putting all sports in dire financial straits, it has been said.

70 YEAR OLD YOUNGSTER — Nobel "Curly" Curl, 5963 San Diego, is getting in practice for the Oakland Old Time Vaudeville and Dramatic Artists Club show at the Oakland Auditorium Saturday night at 8:15, according to Mary Guiles, publicity agent for the group. "Curly," who has appeared with Bozo Taylor on the old stage runs, is an Irish tenor song stylist and will be one of the many acts at the show.

Highway turns runaway

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — In that a plane in the past lane? With the state's blessing, U.S. 31E in Allen County is being converted from highway to landing strip and back to highway several times a day. Barring the highway is necessary so that crop-planting airplanes can land to be refueled and re-supplied with chemicals. There are no airports in the county. Charles Henry, an assistant state engineer, said he didn't recall any other requests to use a highway as a landing strip but he said future requests might be granted if they were reasonable.

Knight at reunion

WEEKONK, Mass. (AP) — Ted Knight had a few lines for his old Army buddies, and his appearance "made" the reunion of the 101st Airborne Division. Knight, the bumbling comedian on the Mary Moore Show, served with the 296th in Europe during World War II. He was Ted Konopka in those days, said Herb Winberg, Knight's former commanding officer. "He's been just great."

STILL ACTIVE — William Dietrich, pictured with his wife, Ivanna, is a lifelong advocate of frozen vegetables, which is not surprising since he was among the scientists pioneering the field of frozen vegetable technology. Recently retired from his job at the United States Department of Agriculture's Western Regional Research Center in Albany, where he worked 37 years, Dietrich has studied extensively the length of time various vegetables will stay fresh at certain temperatures. Frozen vegetables, according to Dietrich, may lose five to fifteen percent of their nutrients in freezing, but fresh vegetables, which sit in warehouses or stores for days before being eaten, may lose more. Besides, he says, frozen vegetables are stable in price. "How much nutrition can you get for $1? You may eat more, but you pay less for the same nutrition." Dietrich is a member of the Sierra Club and Audubon Society and his wife is active in many community organizations.

BY CARY

The public hearing on the proposed changes in Albany's City Charter came to a screeching halt Monday night when Councilman Robert Luoma, after hearing the first eight pages of the Charter, made a motion that it be postponed for a couple of weeks for completion.

The only constructive thing that came from the reading by William E. Haden, Administrative Officer, was a proposal that two City Council meetings per month be devoted to routine matters and two be devoted to open meetings for hearings and special issues. This, it is hoped, will cut down on the long, drawn-out sessions that accomplish little except a lot of excessive rhetoric.

On October 17, the City Council will meet with the Board of Education in a joint session at the Marin School. Discussion of crossing guards, the middle school and other items of mutual interest generated by the passage of Proposition 13, are to be discussed, it was said.

Another item of interest at the meeting Monday night, October 2, was the request of Ann S. Lamb, an Albany resident, for the City Council to investigate the possibility of establishing a re-cycling program such as that of El Cerrito. It was brought out in the discussion that the Oakland Scavengers have an exclusive franchise for pickup of all recyclable items in town. Mayor Lewis M. Howell announced he is a member of the Alameda County solid waste committee and that a pilot program is to be set up at the foot of Gilman street in the near future.

In June, 1977, Director of Public Works Robert S. Guletz made a survey of the possibility of curbside pick-up, but it was decided it was not feasible because of the cost at that time. Now, with the stringent control of money, it is even more remote, it was said.

Jerome Blank, local realtor and former City Councilman, said that installation of pick-up bins would not be feasible and urged members to look at those in Berkeley. They are used for garbage, refuse of all kinds and are a fire and health hazard, he said. The bins to which he referred are in the south Campus area.

Ms. Lamb commented on newspaper pick-up and said that had been done for years in the City, and she was backed up by Mayor Howell. Staff is to report back on the situation, he said.

When the letter from Zweben was read, regarding his bill, Mayor Howell asked if he would like to have the matter of his billing and salary discussed in an executive session but Zweben said he would like to get the issue out in the open.

Zweben said he "would like an indication from the City Council" on whether he will get his pay and that he is "spending more time worrying about his pay than worrying about the city."

At this point Mayor Howell, asked where does the City Attorney's salary end and special fees start. Zweben said he charges for extra legal fees in preparing for litigation and bills the City when he goes to court at the regular rate. He said when an attorney goes to preparation for litigation, fees, in the past, have been paid for conferences, contacts with opposing attorneys, etc., and that 90 percent of litigation is preparation.

Mayor Howell then asked for clarification of a bill of $80 submitted for miscellaneous expenses. This was not answered at the Council meeting.

It developed that Zweben has not charged for attending meetings, preparing ordinances or other ordinary City affairs, but is charging $45 per hour for all items pertaining to litigation, i.e., meetings with attorneys, city staff and the like.

On a motion by Councilman Lewis George, the discussion was put over until the next meeting of the City Council.

New training program will start Tuesday

ALBANY — A new training period for Albany's Home Care Program will begin on October 17. Local young people from 16 to 21 will be trained under the CETA Title III program to help senior citizens with such services as cooking, housecleaning, shopping, personal care, companionship and stroke patient therapy and exercise assistance.

The students continue in training throughout the program, earning certificates in cardiopulmonary resuscitation, first aid and home nursing, as well as learning about such subjects as wheelchair transfers, taking blood pressure, report writing skills and interpersonal relating. The federally funded project, administered by the Albany Park and Recreation Department, provides help to the elderly and assists disadvantaged youth to learn a marketable skill, gain actual work experience and earn from $3.00 to $3.75 per hour at the same time. One of the goals of the program is to find full-time unsubsidized employment for the youths at the conclusion of the training and to further this end, youths meet weekly with job coordinators throughout the later part of the training.

"Thus far, the response from both the students and their 'clients' has been very positive," stated the program director. "The experience is a friendly and helpful one for all concerned."

Candidates are now being selected for a third training group slated to start October 17. Young people from low-income Albany, Emeryville, Piedmont or Alameda households who have an interest and aptitude for working with the elderly are urged to call 644-8506 to make an interview appointment. The new group of employees should be to assist elderly residents in early November. Seniors who have been receiving this service will be notified by telephone to expect a new aide. Elderly residents who not previously received service, but could use assistance, are urged to call 644-8506 for further information.
